ANNUAL REPORT - 2020
We embarked on our continuing journey in 2020 with the ability to travel freely around the world to take clean water to families in need. Our mission and purpose as 2020 began was to provide clean water to those who were suffering from water-borne illnesses. Within a few months, everything worldwide changed. The Pandemic halted travel. It prevented people around the world from earning a living, causing hunger. It put the fear of illness and death in the hearts of humankind across the globe. Initially, it seemed that never in the history of One ATTA Time had the vision for a year been less clear than 2020. But as the worldwide crisis unfolded, we were able to see that we could help meet the increased and changing needs, through our donors and in-country partners, to continue to help those in need around the world.

We were able to distribute water filters to provide clean water in four countries, even while the pandemic was affecting everything around us. This was made possible through relationships with 72 leaders in four countries who stepped up to help under uncharted conditions to make a difference. We rigorously followed the proper health and safety requirements to make sure our local leaders and teams, as well as the people we were serving, were safe. The result was that over 10,000 people gained access to clean water this year. Those 10,000 people are healthier, stronger and no longer fearful of illness and death from dirty, bacteria filled water. In the midst of a health crisis, we were able to provide health stability to so many who were in desperate need.

Beyond water, we were able to help provide 1,600 families access to food in Central America. These families were starving due to the lack of resources, inability to work and the economic crisis resulting from the pandemic. We have always had the underlying mission that One ATTA Time would help people in times of need, regardless of whether that need was for water, or in a crisis, for something else. Our generous donors provided not only water, but food and even the funds for shelter in areas of desperate need that we serve.

On November 8th, we held our annual fundraiser “Uncharted Water” on a virtual platform. As a part of that event, we premiered our new video, ”Uncharted Water” which focused upon our 2020 trip to El Salvador. That journey took us back to our 2013 beginnings in El Salvador, with my sponsored child, Bryan, who felt like he had the stomach flu every day of his life before we arrived. Since that time, Bryan has not been sick, ever, from dirty water. During that trip, in an unplanned fork in the road, we were led to a Village with 46 families—all sick—without clean drinking water. The next day our local leaders provided clean water to every one of them. Another incredible opportunity to help those in need.

The year 2020 has proven to be the most successful year yet for our organization, even during this pandemic. The generosity of our donors in 2020 has given us the critically needed resources that have allowed One ATTA Time to take clean water, food and shelter to those in need. You gave us the ability to help so many children and families in times of a worldwide crisis. Donors like you, who stepped up and made a difference by being generous in 2020, have changed, saved and enriched the lives of families across the world.

Among our many other plans and goals, our vision for 2021 is to section out different areas of El Salvador to bring clean water to every person who needs it in the next 5 years. On top of that we will continue to provide more clean water, empower and educate local leaders, and unite together. We will do this one bucket, one community, one family, one child at a time with our partners and donors here at One ATTA Time.

“Life has not been easy for us in El Salvador. We’ve had to make huge adjustments in order to follow the government guidelines regarding COVID. Our country was on lockdown for months. We’ve had multiple storms that caused massive flooding and structural damages to our buildings and roads. We’ve had to endure a lot of heartache and turmoil. But it hasn’t stopped us from the most pressing need in our country: people, especially children, gaining access to clean and safe drinking water. Despite all the challenges we are doing it. We are making a huge difference.

One that sticks out to me is an area called, Calzada Island. Its on that island that over 400+ families live. Magdalena is one of the main leaders on the island, she remarked that many people had been praying to have clean drinking water for over 20 years. During this year we were able to give all 400+ families access to clean water and we have been able to continue to train leaders from the school clinic and churches on how to maintain the filters we have distributed. So many lives have been impacted from gaining access to clean drinking water in 2020.” - Cynthia Castro
“In 2020, GIBTK distributed 317 water filters in total to the poor families in many provinces across Vietnam. In particular, GIBTK and the United Gospel Outreach Church in Ho Chi Minh distributed 50 water filters in Tien Giang province. Linfa, the name of the sixth storm with heavy rain hit Vietnam in 2020 and caused landslide over Quang Nam province and other central provinces of Viet Nam. We then had to suffer multiple storms and historic flooding that made thousands of people lost their properties even their houses. Sensing the urgency of lacking clean water, especially in flooded areas, GIBTK accompanied with Quang Nam Charity Association for an urgent relief to distribute 196 water filters for families in A Tieng commune, Tay Giang district, Quang Nam province. That immediate action had saved hundreds of people from getting sick because of using dirty water after flood.

In Vietnam, to help everyone access clean and safe water is always still a big challenge, especially in remote/mountainous areas. So in Oct 2020, GIBTK along with the Child Protection Fund of Kon Tum province presented another 71 water filters to the poorest families in Kon Tum province.

A water filter is such a precious gift which helps the families to sustainably access safe drinking water, strengthen health and reduce the incidence of diarrhea disease in children. All of them were amazed by these miracle filters and they were so grateful to this meaningful gift.” - Anh Nguyen
"The water filters received have been a great value for the vulnerable families who have had the opportunity to receive them. Their lives have already improved greatly. Before receiving the filters they only had water from the local municipality. That water source was contaminated and both adults and children suffered from water related illnesses due to that being the only water source available. I want to thank God and each of you for your great heart and desire to help our families gain access to clean water. May God continue to bless you more every day. " - Pastor Carlos Lenin Pineda
“In Uganda, about 95% of our people do not have clean and safe drinking water, many homes fetch water from very poor water sources such as ponds, streams and springs. Many families are highly affected by water borne diseases.

Unified in Mission entered into partnership with ATTA to distribute water filters to the Local communities in Uganda starting this year 2020 to help curb down the challenge of these diseases. Unified in mission received 50 water filters which are being distributed at the moment, so far 42 families have received water filters.

We have distributed the 42 filters in about 7 villages and we have reached out to chairpersons in these villages who have also been very helpful in giving us directions and family details.

In Uganda it is not the first time we are receiving water filters from ATTA, I personally had participated in the distribution of 1000 water filters in the year 2018 and currently as I lead the distribution of the new filters, I take the opportunity to clean these filters and follow them up to make sure they are still in good condition.” - Lawrence Nasasira

Prior to the creation of One ATTA Time, I had the privilege of visiting El Salvador with Sean Kappauf on numerous occasions to visit our sponsored children. I experienced first-hand Sean’s frustrations and struggles, and his decision to act, when he learned about Brian’s (his sponsored child) illnesses caused by contaminated water, and how they adversely impacted his ability to attend school and function in a healthy manner.

Why do you believe it is important to support One ATTA Time?
I support One ATTA Time and its vision to provide clean water, because I have personally and repeatedly experienced how one filter can improve and impact the lives of children and families. I can attest that water-borne illnesses have been eliminated with the smallest of investments. My sponsored children have benefited tremendously from ATTA’s efforts, as they are 100% free of bacterial infections, parasites and worms.

Can you tell us about the leadership program for ATTA that you’ve been involved with?
A team comprised of Salvadorian and North American faith-based organizations, and private and public schools in Las Delicias, San Martin, created the Leadership Development Program based on the James Kouzes and Barry Posner’s The Leadership Challenge. What made the LDP successful was combining leadership training with practical community service.

The program took off when student leaders became the change agents in their communities—they would assemble, monitor, and train families how to properly employ and maintain the ATTA filter. Something interesting happened besides improved health and productivity when the student leaders returned to the homes every six to eight weeks to follow-up: their acts of service and personal connections with the families brought the neighborhoods and communities closer together. Two schools across the community periodically join together for various projects involving trash pick-up, home visitations, school maintenance, tutoring younger students, and the list continues.

Can you tell us a little bit about your work at Paley Stone and your speaking engagements?
For the last 25 years, I have worked in Southern California’s construction and service industry meeting the ceramic and natural stone maintenance, repair and restoration needs of thousands of homeowners, home builders, designers, fabricators, installers, and suppliers. In 2019, I sold my company and now provide consulting, training and testing services to my residential and business clients. Most importantly, I now have more time to partner with One ATTA Time bringing fresh water to the less fortunate and create opportunities for students leaders to serve their neighbors and community.

James Paley is an expert and consultant to the natural stone industry. He has a formal education in geology, which he has applied to his career as a leader in the stone and tile forensics and marble and stone care industry. He is also a 2020 CEU Certified Speaker for the Natural Stone Institute, formerly the Marble Institute of America. This leadership experience in his field is now helping One ATTA Time in the development of programs, such as the student Leadership Development Program described in this interview.
